

Soviets Confuse West In Note On Unified Germany

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It might seem the Russians were unsure of themselves in their note this week on the Big Four foreign ministers conference. But, since they've made a practice of doubletalk, the note's purpose was probably to confuse, not enlighten.

The Russians have controlled East Germany completely for the eight years since World War II.

Free Elections Opposed

The Russians have consistently brushed aside suggestions by this country and its big western allies that East and West Germany be allowed to hold free elections for a single German government.

With the hatred expressed by the East Germans in recent weeks, the Russians must feel even less inclination than ever to permit them to unite with the West Germans whose present government is pro-western.

But in July Secretary of State Dulles met here with the foreign ministers of Britain and France. They sent the Russians a note suggesting that they and the Russian foreign minister meet to consider German unification and free elections.

All Scrambled Up

Tuesday night Russia responded with a vague and rambling note which indicated—or so it seemed—that their foreign minister would talk about Germany with the other three foreign ministers.

But the Russians thoroughly scrambled up the business by inserting insistence that the Communist Chinese must sit in on possible discussions about easing world tensions.

The only purpose of the Russian note, probably, is to make them look good, or at least not stubbornly bad, in the eyes of the East Germans. The foreign ministers' conference, if and when it started, could be booby-trapped with so much mumbo-jumbo about China that it would have to break up in despair.

Millions Of Hungry East Germans Crack Blockade At Berlin

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist blockade on rail travel to West Berlin's free food stations was cracking today under the pressure of East Germany's hungry millions.

Thousands of Soviet zoneers were joining the throngs of East Berliners lining up for food packages; able to buy railroad tickets to Berlin for the first time since Saturday, when the East government clamped on its ban.

East Germany's government made no announcement it was lifting its ban, and in many places tickets reportedly still were not on sale. Relief officials, however, reported that people from farther reaches of the Soviet zone said railway employees had sold them tickets quietly at various stations.

Red Tint Hunted In Labor Unions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a sweeping investigation of Communist influences in labor unions were laid down today by Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.), head of a special task force of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"Our unions must be free of the slightest taint of communism," Butler said in an interview. "We can't save this country if we can't keep Communists out of unions, especially out of positions of authority."

Butler and Senators Walker (R-Idaho) and McCarron (D-Nev.) were named by the internal security subcommittee, a panel of the Judiciary Committee, to run the investigation, with Butler as chairman.

The hearings, scheduled in the fall, will be held in Washington. Called to give their views, Butler said, will be top CIO and AFL officials, including AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther.

Butler said he will also call officers of unions kicked out of the CIO in 1949 and 1950 for alleged Communist domination.

He named these unions as certain to get a summons from his task force: the American Communications Assn.; United Electrical Workers; Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers; and Harry Bridges' West Coast Longshoremen's union—all independent outfits and all expelled from the CIO.

Coaches At MSC See East Berlin

EAST LANSING (AP)—A trip through the barbed wire barricades into East Berlin was the most memorable experience of their European trip for four Michigan State football coaches.

Head Coach Biggie Munn and assistants Duffy Daugherty, Steve Sebo and Earle Edwards were in Europe to conduct an armed forces football clinic at Nuremberg.

Riding in an Army staff car, with U. S. officers for guides, they crossed into the Soviet zone of Berlin. Once there, the party was under constant surveillance by Communist police carrying burp-guns.

"They really watched us," said Munn. "I was loaded down with cameras but never got a chance to take a picture."

Daugherty noticed the absence of flowers in East Berlin. "It was real drab," he said.

"There was a great difference between the people who live on opposite sides of that barbed wire fence," said Sebo.

China Reds Lying

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark said today the Communists may hold between 2,000 and 3,000 more American prisoners than they have said they will exchange. The Far East commander said this information has come from Americans who were returned in May and other sources.

O. V. Thatcher Taken By Death; Service Friday

Oliver Victor Thatcher, Escanaba businessman, prominent in the civic and fraternal life of the community for many years, died at 8 p. m. Wednesday at his home, 618 Lake Shore Drive. He was 65 years old.

The owner of the Delta Insurance Agency, he was known as "Ollie" to a wide circle of friends who found in him a willing worker for worthy projects and an enjoyable companion with an infectious sense of humor. He had been ill for the past several months.

Born in Escanaba May 16, 1888, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Thatcher, he spent most of his lifetime in this city.

Rotary Past President

He attended public schools here and the University of Wisconsin and Ferris Institute.

From 1917 to 1929 he was employed in Milwaukee by the Julius Andrae & Sons Co., and then returned to Escanaba and affiliated with the late A. J. Young in the Delta Insurance Agency.

Through the years he was active in Boy Scout work, was a member of the City Planning Commission during the period of its organization and the preparation of a master plan for the city.

A past president of the Escanaba Rotary Club, he had served on all of the club's committees and on its board of directors. He was a Mason, with affiliations in the Blue Lodge, Charter of Knights Templar, the Wisconsin Consistory of the Order of the Mystic.

Deer Regulations Bring Protests

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

Outdoor Writer

GRAYLING (AP)—The State Conservation Commission met at the Higgins Lake training school today to decide on this year's deer hunting regulations.

The regular statewide season on bucks is set by law from Nov. 15 to Nov. 30, and the archery season from Oct. 1 to Nov. 5.

But much controversy is expected over setting the any deer season the commission is empowered to designate in the northern lower peninsula.

The game division has recommended that the area north of M-55 to the Straits of Mackinac be opened to the shooting of bucks, does and fawns on the last day of the season.

Last year, the commission opened a larger area between M-46 and the Straits to the shooting of any deer for the last three days. The kill in the special season was estimated at just over 100,000, and the game men said the heavy harvest was good for the deer herd.

The liberal regulations, however, raised a storm of protest, especially in the north country, from those who feared the deer would be exterminated.

Plans To Rebuild Korea Outlined

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Syngman Rhee, apparently in accord on a U. S.-Korean mutual security pact, today mapped plan for the reconstruction of war-torn South Korea.

Authoritative sources said the treaty—subject to ratification by the U. S. Senate—could be ready for initialing before Dulles leaves Saturday for Washington.

Dulles said today's meeting, the second since he arrived Tuesday, was devoted largely to plans for spending 200 million dollars already voted by Congress to start the rehabilitation of South Korea.

The money is the first of an expected 900 million dollar allocation to be spread over a three or four-year period.

Dulles said the potentially explosive question of Korean unification probably would come up at Friday's session, set for 10 a. m. (7 p. m., CST, Thursday).

Dulles said he plans to leave Saturday for Tokyo and take off for Washington Monday.

Howling Communists Rip Off Clothes For Picture Propaganda

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists gave back 392 Allied war prisoners today. Two already are dead and others were gaunt and haggard but many returned to freedom laughing and shouting.

Seventy Americans came out of Red prisons. Forty-two of them were sick or wounded.

The Communists said they would send back 400 more Allied captives tomorrow in the third day of the Korean War prisoner exchange. Eighty-one will be Americans, bringing the total for three days to 221.

Some Nearly Naked

One South Korean died in a Communist ambulance en route to Panmunjom today. Another died shortly after.

Still other ROK soldiers were reported at the edge of death.

Some Americans appeared in good shape and the 25 British and 25 Turks all appeared healthy.

Many of the dihard Red prisoners sent north broke into a frenzied demonstration as they left U. N. hands. They howled, screamed, ripped their clothing and went back to communism nearly naked. Two failed in an escape attempt.

One Red smashed an American ambulance driver in the nose.

They threw boots, clothing and other gear at U. N. personnel. One officer was hit in the mouth and suffered a split lip.

Setup For Newsmen

The U. N. Command protested sharply. A U. N. officer said later the Communists told him "they would take measures to see that incidents do not happen again."

The outbursts obviously were set up for Red photographers and newsmen.

One American ambulance driver said they had orders not to make any moves against the rebellious Reds. He said they were told to grin and bear it.

Some of the South Koreans angrily tore off their clothing and shouted at Red personnel, but they did not attack them. One South Korean spat at a nearby Communist officer.

A pain-wracked South Korean summed up their attitudes as he muttered a curse:

"May God damn the Communists!"

Rough Seas Dim Hopes Of Saving 14 Airmen

LONDON (AP)—Ships picked up today the bodies of two more American airmen from the giant U. S. Air Force RB36 bomber which crashed in flames in the Atlantic Wednesday.

Five bodies have been recovered thus far. Four men were rescued alive. Fourteen others of the 23-man crew are still missing and hope dimmed that they could have survived.

Two bodies were picked up today, one by the Swedish freighter Monica Smith and the other by the British weather ship India.

Wind increased in violence today over a 200-mile expanse of heaving sea, 300 to 500 miles west of Ireland as planes and ships searched the area.

Rain Clouds Vision

The vessels reported by feeble radio that the wind reached velocities of 42 knots, causing long swells and 15-foot high waves.

Hope of finding more survivors in one-man dinghies, rafts or one of the two rescue boats dropped by planes were further dimmed as rain reduced visibility to about three miles. Clouds reduced the ceiling for 23 searching aircraft to about 1,000 feet.

One faint radio message from the freighter Manchester Shipper raised the possibility that more men might have been found alive. The skipper reported he was bringing in survivors. Previous messages said the ship had only one survivor and two bodies.

Suspected Burglar Caught In Wild Chase At Pontiac Store

PONTIAC (AP)—Police held 27-year-old William E. Beebe of Waterford today for questioning in two recent burglaries. He was captured in a wild chase down aisles and over counters in a men's store here Wednesday.

Mrs. Joseph Harrington, a clerk, called police about a $105 check given her in payment for a clothing purchase. Police found it had been stolen in a burglary of the Pontiac Sheet Metal Roofing Co. Monday.

As store employees questioned him, Beebe fled. A flying tackle by Jerry Lapsidos, son of the store's owner, brought him down. But the man broke loose and scampered away before clerks caught him again.

Police said they would question Beebe in the roofing company burglary and that of a feed store the same night.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Some people are late for church because they have to change a tire; others because they have to change a dollar.

Death Marches And Hunger Kill Countless POWs

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Americans and South Koreans freed by the Communists today told of beatings, burnings, death marches and starvation at the hands of their Red captors—horrors which they said killed countless fellow prisoners.

Lt. Col. Thomas D. Harrison, highest ranking American officer yet returned in the two-day prisoner exchange, arrived on crutches with one leg missing. He said the Communists starved him seven days, then repeatedly smothered him with a wet towel and revived him with jabs from a lighted cigarette. It was a fruitless attempt to get military information, he said.

Sick Men Held Back

He said he knew of "at least 60 officers who were so ill they should have been returned" last April during the exchange of disabled prisoners. He said the Reds told him he was held back "because I was a bad boy—I used my rank and eloquence to influence other prisoners."

Harrison, a 32-year-old fighter-bomber pilot from Clovis, N. M., is the second cousin of Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied truce negotiator. He is one of 70 Americans freed today at Panmunjom.

Today's accounts, if not as sweepingly lurid as ordeals described by sick and wounded POWs freed last April, were all the more intense and personal. A new Army censorship rule allows a liberated prisoner to tell only of atrocities he saw.

Rough On Airmen

U. S. and other airmen appeared to be special targets of Red brutality, probably a reprisal for deadly Allied bombings and strafings, Allied officers said.

A Negro B29 co-pilot, Lt. Samuel E. Massinberg of Detroit, said he got four days of continuous torture and starvation from the North Koreans, followed by a special effort to woo him to communism "because of my race." He said:

"They butted me around, they slapped me, they gave me no food for four days. When they saw I would not give them the information they wanted, they turned me over to the Chinese to fatten me up."

Massinberg's hands were frost-bitten after he bailed out over Pyongyang when a Red MIG jet shot down his B29 last Jan. 11. The

Rayburn Says GOP Flunked On Pledges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic House leader Rayburn today accused the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress of having failed in its first session to keep all but one of the GOP's 1952 campaign pledges.

The only promise fulfilled by the Republicans, Rayburn said in a statement reviewing the session which ended Monday, was their promise of "hard money."

"They have made it harder to get," he commented. "They increased interest rates all along the line. Everybody's budget has been increased by higher interest rates."

Rayburn's statement followed by two days one issued by House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana.

Veteran Photographer For AP Awaiting His Liberation In Korea

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Pvt. Shirley Grimmett, 21, of Rita, W. Va., brought a message today from Frank Noel, veteran Associated Press photographer awaiting liberation.

"I saw Noel while I was in the hospital a few days before I left," Grimmett said. "He asked me to tell you that he would be coming out soon."

Noel was captured while with the U. S. Marines near Kunu in December 1950.

At Panmunjom today there were indications that he may be freed Friday. His wife, Evelyn, is expected in Tokyo Friday to greet him.

City Airport Job Delayed

No federal funds will be available within the next year for improvement of the Escanaba airport, Lester J. Maitland, director of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, said here yesterday at a meeting with members of the Escanaba City Council and the aviation committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Maitland reported that Congress adjourned after deleting $12,500,000 appropriation for federal aid to airports. Because of this action, no airport projects not already under way will be eligible for federal aid.

Escanaba's airport improvement project was one of 24 in Michigan which will be affected by the developments.

The city had appropriated funds and the state also has funds available to match the federal money which had been expected for airport development.

Escanaba's project provided for the improvement of the east-west runway. At present the east-west runway cannot be used by commercial planes and when cross winds occur, the scheduled flights at Escanaba must be cancelled.

Judge Rebukes State; Light Fine Given For Baraga School Padding

L'ANSE (P)—Circuit Judge Leo J. Brennan rebuked the state of Michigan today in passing sentence on School Superintendent Napoleon J. Martin of Baraga for enrollment padding.

Judge Brennan charged that state officials were dilatory in failing to discover the padding of records and putting a stop to it.

The court voiced the rebuke as Martin was fined $250 and placed on two years probation. Judge Brennan said he gave Martin the limited sentence in view of "mitigating factors" including the veteran schoolman's physical condition and his "splendid record."

Martin, in middle age, has been superintendent of Baraga County schools for 28 years. He has been a teacher for 34 years.

He was accused of padding school enrollment records over a period of 20 years at a cost to the state of "thousands of dollars." Several such incidents have been uncovered in an investigation of enrollment padding in Michigan schools.

The train that struck and the auto was traveling west. Officers said they could give no explanation for Steele's action in driving the long distance up the railway track.

Steele is survived by his widow.

Straits Crossing Project Planned To Begin Sunday

ST. IGNACE—The Bechtel Corporation, in charge of construction of the new oil pipeline across the Upper Peninsula and Lower Michigan, reported today that plans for laying the line across the Straits of Mackinac have been revised.

The project, originally scheduled to begin Thursday, will start on Saturday and if everything goes well, the first of two 20-inch lines across the straits will be laid in 76 hours, crews working continuously.

The pipe is welded in 2500-foot sections on the St. Ignace side of the straits. The line will be pulled across the straits by a powerful winch, with 3 1/2 inch cable, from the Mackinac City side. The 2500-foot sections will be welded to the main line as the line is pulled across the water barrier.

The line will be flooded with water and sunk to a maximum depth of 240 feet in the center of the straits. The engineering operation has been planned for many months and is regarded as one of the most intricate engineering feats of this nature ever attempted.

Hermansville Town Board Considers New Sewage Plant

HERMANVILLE — Automobiles were lined up on both sides of Hermansville's main street Tuesday evening, when over 25 taxpayers interested in the much discussed sewage disposal plant heard Robert McMahon, of the McMahon Engineering Company of Menasha, discuss the costs of the desired sewage disposal plant at a meeting of the Meyer Township Board at the Community Club.

Some time ago a petition was presented to the Town Board urging steps be taken for the establishment of a sewage disposal plant for the community. Since that time the board has been obtaining data on the plant and necessary information concerning the costs and operation and McMahon presented these estimated figures to the taxpayers attending Tuesday's meeting.

A primary treatment plant will cost $40,000 to $50,000; sewage system for the community and that includes the Italian Hill settlement, from $80,000 to $90,000; of the total cost 6 1/2 per cent would be paid for sewage and engineering costs; salary would have to be paid for a resident engineer while work is being done. Then after the work is completed, it will be necessary to maintain one man on a part time duty for maintenance and operations repairs.

Township Clerk Harold E. Allen requested an estimated figure of $200,000 to do a complete job from an engineering firm in West Bend, Wisconsin.

There was no definite action

Mayock Tax Deal Has Bad Odor That Smells Of Corruption

THE story unfolded by Welburn S. Mayock, who describes himself as a "volunteer" counsel for the Democratic National Committee during former President Truman's 1948 campaign, in testimony to House investigators yesterday is a shocking revelation of political abuse.

Mayock testified that he received a $65,000 fee from a businessman for his services in winning a favorable tax ruling and that he paid $30,000 to the Democratic committee for the 1948 campaign. Mayock blandly conceded that he simply appealed to an "old friend", Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, and that Snyder interceded with Revenue Bureau officials to secure a favorable ruling. Mayock further admitted that his efforts were successful because of his political connections rather than his skill as a lawyer.

The pattern of events in this case has an unsavory odor. A businessman is in tax trouble. He appeals to a political fixer who uses political influence to bring about a favorable ruling for his client. Then he assesses a $65,000 fee, of which $30,000 is transferred to the Democratic committee through "fake contributors" to sidestep the political corrupt practices act.

Was the favorable ruling the result of a deal in which a Democratic secretary of the treasury participated for the purpose of making available $30,000 for his party's campaign expenses?

The merits of the tax case in question are not revealed thus far. Perhaps the ruling was justified on its own merits, but more likely it was not because if it were, there would be no necessity for appealing to a political fixer to intercede. And there would be no need to get involved in a situation which requires a $65,000 fee to gain relief.

The case of Mr. Mayock really smells. Honest taxpayers who have sacrificed to meet the burden of heavy taxes must surely feel a sense of having been deeply wronged.

Taft-less GOP Faces Big Job

IN all the accounts of Senator Taft's last days, one small item passed largely unnoticed. It stated that during his stay in the hospital, the senator had had two long conversations with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Until Dewey chooses, if he ever does, to tell what was discussed in those meetings, one can only speculate, naturally. But it is very possible that they had much to do with the future political management of the Republican Party.

In the strictest sense, Dewey was no friend of Taft's. The two men were adversaries in the GOP presidential campaigns of 1940 and 1948, and Dewey seemed to magnify this political enmity by throwing himself heavily onto President Eisenhower's side against Taft in 1952. In its last frantic hours, the Taft drive for the nomination sounded more anti-Dewey than anti-Eisenhower.

Yet, as everyone has seen again and again, Taft was an eminently practical man. And he was a man supremely devoted to advancing the cause of the Republican Party. He knew he was going to die, and he must have realized that his passing would leave the party painfully short on experienced political leadership.

Dewey is totally unlike Taft in temperament, outlook and cast of mind. But, aside from Taft himself, he is unquestionably the most practiced politician in the party. He brings power and authority and an inevitable stature to whatever he does in its ranks. He got himself two presidential nominations, played a key role in Mr. Eisenhower's, and won the governorship of the country's most populous state three times. He is no amateur.

Taft may have turned to Dewey as the one man with the know-how to guide the party through difficult times ahead.

How Dewey could make his undeniable political gifts felt in this dilemma is not clear. It's highly unlikely that he could work himself into the Senate picture, since no New York seat is in contest until 1956. Possibly the most practical avenue for him would be a key cabinet appointment.

In such a post, Dewey could serve as a top political adviser to the President, who does not himself have the needed experience, nor any present highly qualified helper. He has relied upon Taft, who not only had the knowledge, but stood in the middle holding together the sharply divided factions in the GOP.

Dewey would not have an easy time, if it came to that. His second defeat made him highly unpopular among many Republican politicians. Their bitterness may not have lessened. But the fact is, Dewey once was acceptable to both wings of his party, and he might be again. His record as governor is proof he knows how to deal with a legislature; he gets things done.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Much more than the American people realize, the prisoner world behind the iron curtain is watching the food riots in East Germany. Also, more than the American people realize, the Eisenhower administration has been holding backstage debates regarding the next step to be taken in East Germany.

So far there's been no decision. Two facts, however, are fairly clear: No. 1—The East German food program is only a drop in the bucket compared with what needs to be done in all the vast and restless area behind the iron curtain.

No. 2—The Eisenhower administration was elected on a platform of stirring up revolt behind the iron curtain. So vigorously did Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles emphasize this during the political campaign that Adlai Stevenson publicly chided them.

Once in office, however, the Eisenhower administration has been bothered by doubting Thomases, do-nothing advisers, has moved with exasperating caution.

FIRST FOOD PROPOSAL

The present food program for East Germany was proposed by this writer to certain State Department officials on June 23, shortly after the Berlin riots started. Some officials were enthusiastic, some dubious.

"If the Russians won't let our surplus bread and butter enter East Germany," it was proposed in one column, "then the American radio station in Berlin, RIAS, can put them on the spot by blaring the fact behind the iron curtain."

"All we have to do is put the bread and butter down in West Berlin and let the East Germans come and get it. Several thousand cross back and forth every day. I have crossed back and forth dozens of times..."

This has now worked out exactly as predicted. Though it took three weeks of backstage debate, press and radio comment, this idea has now given the Kremlin its worst setback since the end of the war. As stated in a column of June 30, "if our millions of tons of surplus food were used appropriately in Berlin, the effect on the Russians would be devastating... if the Russians refused they would be more on the spot than ever."

The Russians did refuse Eisenhower's offer of July 10 and they are now on the spot in a manner which has lost them more prestige than any other snipe move we have made.

OUR NEXT MOVES

Desperate, the Russians are now blocking food distribution. And the question is, what is our next move to be?

Here are a few suggestions:

1. Drop Food By Balloon in the rest of East Germany. If Red tanks and troops continue to block the East Germans, give them a spectacular demonstration of Yankee ingenuity by dropping food parcels at their front door. The God-given winds of the upper altitudes which move from west to east are with us in regard to this—and this is something the Kremlin can't change. We should use them.

2. Repeat The Food Program in other areas behind the iron curtain. Vienna, like Berlin, is divided into sectors, so that people can cross over from one zone to another. A similar program in Vienna would have the same electrifying result in Southern Europe that the Berlin program is having in Northern Europe.

3. Send Food By Balloon To Other Iron Curtain Countries which are not near Berlin and Vienna. Food by balloon is a little more expensive, but intensely dramatic—and drama is needed to win the cold war. Furthermore, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other satellite countries were invaded by Germany, don't particularly love the Germans, and don't like to see us favoring the German people. For us to concentrate on helping Germany alone would be a serious psychological error.

4. Demand That Free Elections be held in every iron curtain country. In a formal note to Moscow we should emphasize the fact that the Yalta Pact gives these nations the right of governments of their own choosing and we should demand that the United Nations supervise free elections.

5. Move for a United States of Europe. Most Europeans know they are doomed both economically and militarily if they remain small, divided, independent countries. The only way they can exist is to emulate our example and unite.

Questions and Answers

Q—Which were the costliest 1952 Congressional races, on the basis of official expenditure reports to Congress?

A—The race between Henry M. Jackson (D) and Harry P. Cain (R) for Washington's Senate seat was the most expensive, the total bill reaching $137,382. Cain (who lost) spent $77,109—more than any other reported candidate. The campaign in Maryland's 5th district, between Frank Small, Jr. (R) and Richard E. Lankford (D), cost $33,106, tops for the House. Lankford, the loser, spent $18,898. Al Canwell (R), who lost to Don Magnuson (D) for Washington's at-large seat, was the biggest individual spender in a House race. His tab was $22,296.

Now for the Real Magic

Ex-Chief Of Finnish Reds Sees Fame Ahead For General Zhukov

GREGORY ZHUKOV IN THE LIMELIGHT: As Red victor of Berlin in 1945, the Soviet Marshal (right) drank a toast with America's Dwight D. Eisenhower and Britain's Bernard Montgomery. In the last years of Stalin, he was an outcast, but now he's back on the uprise.

By LEON DENNEN

STOCKHOLM —(NEA)—It's worth a trip from Paris to Stockholm to talk to a man like Arvo Tuominen.

Arvo Tuominen is a stocky, 60-year-old Finn who was once an intimate friend of Joseph Stalin and close collaborator of Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lavrenti P. Beria.

He is thus perhaps the only man alive outside the Kremlin with intimate, first-hand knowledge of the intrigues and struggles that undermine the Red underworld.

Stalin offered Tuominen the presidency of a Communist Finland in 1939. Subsequently they broke and today this tough-looking Finn is No. 1 on the Russian secret police "wanted" list.

Over steaming cups of black coffee we talked in a language we had in common, Russian.

The former chief of Finland's Reds foresees another blood purge in which Premier Malenkov will be removed by one of the shadowy figures who upheld him in his fight with Beria.

One of these figures is Marshal Gregory Zhukov. Tuominen sees much significance to the recent rise of Zhukov.

Zhukov, the Red victor of Berlin and post-war friend of President Eisenhower, was virtually an outcast during the last years of Stalin. Immediately after the death of Stalin he was rescued from obscurity by the frightened oligarchs of the Kremlin.

Now he is again the most popular man in the Red Army and possibly in Russia.

Tuominen said that Leon Trotsky predicted what is happening in Russia. With the Red Army gradually extending its control, the Soviet empire seems headed irresistibly for an army revolution like that by which Napoleon became emperor of France.

Zhukov could be the Russian Napoleon, Tuominen said.

And what about Malenkov? "Malenkov is a ruthless man," Tuominen replied. "His desire for power is insatiable. But many more heads of his present friends and associates will roll on the ground before he is able to reach for Stalin's pinnacle."

Information coming out of Russia, Tuominen said, indicated to him the greatest upheaval since the Bolsheviks seized power in 1917. It extends, he said, from East Berlin to the remotest regions of Central Asia.

Thousands of Beria's followers have been shot by Red Army execution squads.

Said Tuominen:

"The known purge in the Ukraine, Germany and the Baltic states is a mere surface ripple. The Communist Party and secret police are in a state of convulsion. The Red generals are gradually taking over power."

Red Dope Pushers Make Addicts Of GIs In Japan

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY

TOKYO —(NEA)—Communists have made dope addicts out of hundreds of U. S. GIs in Japan.

U. S. officials, faced with the fight to maintain troop morale during lengthy truce negotiations, are alarmed.

Japanese parliament and Welfare Ministry officials were shocked to find 24 known and approximately 50 suspected dope dens around the U. S. Air Force Tachikawa Air installation, 20 miles west of Tokyo.

"Sure, we have hundreds of heroin users among the enlisted men at our base," said a high officer at the Tachikawa installation. "We weeded out 80 addicts recently and have eight more spotted."

An Air Force official report says: "It's self-evident that some of these profits find their way to the Kremlin coffers."

Actually, authorities believe, most of the profits go to finance Communist activities in Japan. There's a large Chinese and Korean population here and Communist agitation stems from it.

Other aims of the Red dope pushers are:

1. To promote espionage.
2. To break down troop morale.

A report by the Air Surgeon of the Far East Air Force says the men are led to addiction by easy stages. Prostitutes who abound around the air bases start a GI off on benzidine and amphetamine-ephedrine, which are sold openly without prescription. Next comes a pellet of heroin in a cigaret, then injection of heroin under the skin and finally the jolt directly into the vein.

In one recent month five GIs died of overdoses of heroin. There are 10 recorded deaths from this cause in brothels this year.

U. S. officials are cooperating fully with an investigation by the Diet aimed at passage of enforcement laws with teeth.

U. S. officials and Military Police pass information to Japanese enforcement officials, the pushers are arrested but loopholes in the law and even bribes set them free in a few days to resume their disruptive work.

U. S. authorities say 95 per cent of the known users are Negroes.

Medical officers on returning troop ships have been alerted to watch for withdrawal symptoms among rotated soldiers. Customs officials are watching for attempts to smuggle the heroin—adulterated out relatively cheap here—home to the United States.

Japan has a long record as middle ground for drug traffic coming from the mainland of Asia, although there are comparatively few Japanese addicts. U. S. investigators have traced the traffic definitely to Red China, even pinpointing a small factory producing 800 pounds of morphine monthly.

"In the interests of the United States, the Japanese must take this problem before the Diet and stamp it out," said Diet Member Eiichi Yoshitake. "We will institute a policy to stiffen the laws and demand enforcement."

Japanese estimate more than 1000 kilograms of heroin were smuggled into Japan this year for sale at $14 a gram.

Said one GI headed home for honorable discharge:

"It's just like buying a pack of cigarets in the States."

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE PROJECT — At Stonington the members of the Bay de Noc Grange are wondering if they may have encountered one of the world's meanest burglars.

Who he is they do not know, but they regret very much what he has done. For the robber stole all of the shades, two locks and an automatic door closer from old Peninsula Point lighthouse, which the Grange maintains as the only historic landmark of its kind in Delta County.

You may recall the Grange assumed responsibility for maintenance of the old lighthouse about four or five years ago when the federal government was prepared to tear it down.

The Grange members put in many hours of repair work. Much of the materials for restoring the building were donated by Delta County merchants and the Grange felt a justified pride in sponsoring the maintenance project.

But the vandals have had their way. Last fall a large plate glass window in the lighthouse tower was broken. This summer the building was entered and burglarized.

"It makes us feel there isn't much the use in trying to keep the place up," said Art Sundstrom, Grange secretary. "It's going pretty far when they even steal the locks off the doors."

While the Grange may be discouraged by the acts of the vandals and robbers, they haven't given up their interest in the project by any means.

The road to the old lighthouse at the end of the Stonington Peninsula has been bulldozed and the Grangers are donating their labor in brushing roadsides, cleaning up the roadway and widening it.

One encouraging aspect of the community service project by the Grange is the aroused interest of the younger people in Stonington. They are signing up as members and turning out for meetings. The older members consider it a hopeful sign.

THEN TO NOW—The old lighthouse at Peninsula Point was built in the days when sailing schooners came and went from Escanaba, Gladstone, Masonville and other Little Bay de Noquet ports.

The lighthouse has long been out of commission, but the shipping continues stronger than ever. Iron ore makes up the bulk of freight carried by boats out of Escanaba.

Escanaba is the leading Michigan iron ore shipping port, handling 7 per cent of the Great Lakes total compared to Marquette's 5 per cent. Ore shipping began at Marquette in 1852 with six barrels of ore loaded onto a small sailing vessel.

Escanaba's first cargoes were loaded from docks in 1863 following construction of a railway from the Marquette iron range. Today Escanaba receives ore from three ranges—Marquette, Menominee and Gogebic.

The early-day locomotives pulling ore trains were steam powered and burned wood. This season all of the ore trains arriving here are pulled by diesel-powered locomotives. Longer trains (upwards of 160 cars) and much greater tonnage is possible with diesel.

The first ore cars were of 10 tons capacity. This increased through the years. Now the 50-ton cars are being replaced by cars containing 70 tons of ore and within the next year or two only these larger cars will be in use.

In the early days there was no thought of "mixing" the various grades of iron ores. The smelters took what they received. Now all ore is loaded at the docks into totes and ore is loaded at the docks into the boats according to specific instructions.

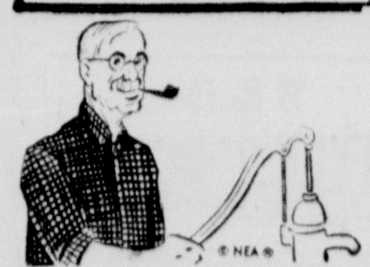

Ore is delivered to the furnaces under contract to contain certain percentages of iron, phosphorus, silica, manganese and so forth.

The mining company specifies this mixing at the dock—and it may involve as many as six or eight different grades being loaded from the docks into the cargo of one vessel.

Basically the design of the ore docks is similar now to what it was years ago—but many improvements have been developed through the years. Machinery on the dock is powered by electricity. And the day of the oldtime ore trimmer is gone forever.

The growing volume of iron ore produced and shipped from the Lake Superior district is dramatically presented in statistics. Seven million tons in 1890, 33 million tons in 1905, 57 million tons in 1920, 61 million tons in 1940, 77 million tons in 1950—and an anticipated 100 million tons this season.

The Doctor Says...

Restless, Fussy Children
May Be Spoiled, Insecure

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Mrs. S. asks for a column on restless and fussy children.

"My 4½-year-old daughter," she says, "has been a more or less fussy child since infancy. Her constant restlessness and not knowing what to do with herself has gone to extremes. Although she is badly spoiled (we are staying where there are five grownups in the house) I can't believe this is the entire cause.

"She is never satisfied with doing anything for more than five minutes and she worries about everything and anything constantly. Do you think she will outgrow this?"

I should add that Mrs. S. says the doctor has examined her daughter and found nothing physically wrong.

Here, evidently is a problem with which many parents are faced to a greater or lesser degree. Some of the things mentioned by Mrs. S. should be considered normal for a 4½-year-old child, such as the youngster's being not satisfied to do anything for more than five minutes. Practically all small children are unable to concentrate for long on one thing, and grownups need not expect them to.

In a way this may supply part of the clue to the problem since the fact that Mrs. S. considers lack of concentration as a fault suggests that perhaps she is expecting too much of her 4-year-old.

But from the information given it does sound as though this youngster was overly nervous and perhaps unhappy. She may be overindulged by the many grownups with whom she comes in contact in the house or she may feel that her parents are neglecting her for other interests. Either of these could make the youngster emotionally upset and "fussy" as the mother calls it.

NEEDS SECURITY

A child needs to feel the security which only the parents can supply; but there is a need also for increasing freedom and responsibility in a world in which the child eventually will have to fare by himself.

Discipline is necessary if nervousness in younger—and older—children is to be avoided. Discipline need not be harsh—in fact, it's just as easy to make a child nervous by excessive harshness as it is by a lack of discipline altogether. The proper choice of physical punishment or other forms of discipline such as confinement to the bedroom, is difficult and often a real test of parenthood.

Parents can help most by watching the physical and mental development of their children and maintaining calm discipline and good example. Children want affection and a show of interest in their affairs. Too little attention from the parents, like too much, can lead toward emotional instability, bad behavior, or just "fussiness" as Mrs. S. calls it.

Spending, Debts Hit Record High

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY WASHINGTON (CQ)—In the post-war years since 1946, the income, spending and debts of the 48 states have spiraled to record highs. And trends indicate that all three sides of the states' financial triangle are going to keep right on expanding—with debts leading the way.

Revenue, the broad base of economic triangle, is growing steadily, but at a declining rate. The 48 state governments collected total revenues of $16,814,971,000 in fiscal 1952. This was 8.2 per cent more than fiscal 1951 collections of $15,547,313,000. But the income gain for 1951 was over 1950, was 11.8 per cent. Taxes, the main source of state income, rose 10.3 per cent in fiscal 1952. In 1951 tax collections had increased 12.7 per cent.

State spending—after showing very little increase in fiscal 1951—jumped 5.4 per cent in fiscal 1952. The states spent $15,833,952,000 for all purposes in 1952, compared to expenditures totaling $15,020,396,000 in the previous fiscal year. Education cost the states more money than any other program in both 1951 and 1952.

And debts, the third and darkest side of the economic triangle, soared to a record 6,874,135,000. This was 10.5 per cent more than the debts accumulated by the 48 states at the end of fiscal 1951.

On the bright side of the state financial picture, drawn from figures compiled by Congressional Quarterly from surveys of the Bureau of the Census, was the fact that income exceeded spending in fiscal 1952 to the tune of $981 million. And the states borrowed less, and redeemed more debts in fiscal 1952 than they did in the previous year.

But the economic good tidings were offset by that mounting debt total. The debt outstanding at the end of a fiscal year bears little relationship to the revenue and spending of that fiscal year because it is computed on the basis of the difference between borrowings and debt redemptions.

It was the difference between the borrowing of $1,147,349,000 in fiscal 1952 and debt redemptions of $494,500,000 which brought the debt outstanding at the end of the year to about $652 million more than it was at the end of fiscal 1951.

State indebtedness more than doubled from 1947 to 1950. It's been climbing ever since, with no immediate prospects of a slackening off.

No Wonder Farmers Have Big Headaches

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—No wonder farmers have headaches. T. H. Parks, an entomologist at Ohio State University, says one pair of grain weevils have 60,000 off-spring in four months' time.

One hundred pairs of weevil parents plus their progeny can contaminate 1,400 bushels of wheat in four months so that the Food and Drug Administration will declare the grain unfit for human consumption.

Parks says the best defense against the pests is to clean and spray grain bins before harvest time and then spray walls and floors with 5 per cent DDT.

Among bees, the worker has 3000 to 4000 lenses in its eyes, the drone 7000 to 8000, and a queen about 5000.

WEEDS WON'T EVEN GROW—This was once a so-called "improved" pasture in Marshall, Mo., but now it's only slim pickings for the cattle shown above. The field was fertilized and seeded according to the latest methods, but it was to no avail. It has been so dry that even weeds will not grow. As a result cattle are losing weight and the market in the area is disintegrating.

Biak Island Again Is Vital Flight Terminal

WASHINGTON—For the second time in the last ten years, tiny Biak Island in Netherlands New Guinea has been "saved" by modern aviation.

Wrested from the Japanese by Allied forces in World War II for use as a springboard for the attack on the Philippines, Biak threatened to become a no man's land at war's end, says the National Geographic Society. Barracks, roads and airstrips built by American airmen were soon swallowed up by the creeping jungle, and the island's population dwindled.

Then, in November, 1950, new life came to Biak. The Royal Dutch Airlines inaugurated flights from Sydney, Australia, to Amsterdam, Holland, with an overnight stop at Biak.

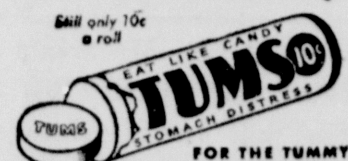

Today the island's 6,900-foot Mokmer airfield is being enlarged and improved. New terminal and radio buildings are going up. A post office, hospital and half-a-hundred homes for airport staff and government officials are being constructed.

Unique Hotel
Soon to be opened is Biak's greatest pride—a modern 46-room hotel, the largest structure ever built on the island. It can probably boast of being the world's first 100 per cent termite-proof hotel. Prefabricated by an Amsterdam firm, all materials were specially treated to withstand attack by voracious white ants which plague Biak.

Biak was first thrust into the international spotlight in 1942 when the Japanese seized the strategic island in their rapid push southward toward Australia. It remained in Nipponese hands until May 27, 1944, when American troops invaded the stronghold after weeks of heavy bombing.

Later, Biak became an airplane

Mink Breeders Hold Meeting

The Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Association held its second annual Field Day program Tuesday night at the UCT club. The program and the supper were enthusiastically attended by 120 persons, from all over the Upper Peninsula and nearby Wisconsin ranches.

The theme of the program was "Problems affecting reproduction in mink." O. Brager-Larson, rancher from Harbor Springs, Michigan and an expert in the field of mink raising, spoke on the scientific advancements being made on the study of the mating cycle of the female mink. It was his contention that laboratory study of the mink in this regard has been carried on much more extensively in Scandinavia than in this country.

There are three factors to be considered regarding the time of the breeding season, he said: light, radiation and temperature. The mild winter last year in this section resulted in an earlier breeding season Brager-Larson believes. Failure to take this into consideration resulted in a somewhat lower litter average than is usually found in this area.

Favors Mink Sheds
William Riddell of the Great Lakes Mink Association spoke on the benefits of belonging to a mink organization. Ranchers, he said, have created the market for mink fur through their own efforts. The association he represents is devoted to the promotion of dark mink.

Riddell also stated that sheds for the protection of the mink animal have proven to be desirable. The type of shed which is most desirable, however, is one which will permit adequate light to meet the demands of the reproductive cycle of the animal.

G. R. Hartsough, DVM of the Associated Fur Farms, outlined the steps necessary to prepare the female mink for the breeding season and whelping. The rancher cannot rely on clinical studies alone regarding the feeding of the animals, but must realize that only attention to individual mink at feeding time will result in an animal in good shape for the March breeding season.

Need Good Bedding
Dr. Hartsough believes that the best results have been attained where the female mink has been bred twice during the breeding season at intervals of about seven days. In his practice at the Associated Fur Farms it was found that a female animal was mated only once before the 10th, 40 percent have no litters. Single matings before the 12th or 15th result in 20 percent misses. Since it is possible for the female mink to conceive from two or more matings, greater production is maintained from double or triple matings.

Dr. Hartsough also stated that regardless of the outside temperature, the next boxes of the female mink which has just whelped should have a quantity of good bedding, marsh grass or soft alfalfa. This enables her to make a cup-shaped nest from which she can nurse her litter more satisfactorily.

Frank Wawirka, mink rancher from Wells, was the chairman of the Field Day program. Mrs. Wawirka was in charge of the supper. Clarence Sturdy of Groos was the master of ceremonies.

Reds bound them tightly, he said. "They hurt terribly all the time and I lost part of the left one."

Beaten With Rifles
Shung Keum Shoon, a 25-year-old emaciated South Korean, told of seeing North Korean Reds beat seven Americans so severely with rifle butts that five died within a few hours.

Cpl. Russell P. James of Auburn, Wash., told of grisly burial details in the bitter winter of 1950-51 in the notorious mining camp that prisoners called "Death Valley." "We buried 25 to 30 men practically every day. We had no medical treatment at all and all we got to eat then was a little bit of millet every day."

Later things improved and James added sarcastically, "Then we got beans and rice on weekdays and chicken and photographers on holidays. The photographers took pictures of us eating chicken."

Tossed In Dungeon
With tears of emotion in his eyes, S. Sgt. Robert M. Wilkins of Detroit, an airman shot down in a B26 last January, told of being thrown into a "black hole" and tortured after he and several others escaped momentarily and were recaptured.

He said a British and an American officer died in the ordeal. "We were tossed into a dungeon," he said. "I'm not kidding you—we had to lie two deep it was so crowded there. And there was an inch or two of water on the floor."

Later, he said, guards "took us into a room and tied us so we couldn't move." He said they were forced to kneel with a stick tied behind their knees, their arms drawn up behind them and tied to the ceiling and a choke rope tied around their throats.

Gambler Adonis To Be Deported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Big-time gambler Joe Adonis has been ordered deported to Italy by the Justice Department.

Adonis insists he was born in Passaic, N. J., but the Justice Department contends he is a native of Italy who never was naturalized.

The deportation order, announced by Atty. Gen. Brownell Wednesday, was part of a government drive to rid the country of alien racketeers.

Adonis, who last month finished serving a term at New Jersey State Prison, lives in a plush home in Palisades, N. J.

The order is based on grounds that Adonis lacked a valid passport when he entered the United States seven years ago after a visit to Cuba. Adonis also is charged with failing to register as an alien and to keep the service advised of his address under the alien registration statute.

In addition to eating turtle meat, castaways have saved their lives by catching rainwater in empty turtle shells.

Cure For Prison Riots Advocated

SEATTLE (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania called today for a complete overhaul of the American penal system to end bloody and costly violence within prison walls.

He told the closing session of the National Governors Conference that the states must work out uniform penal policies throughout the country in answer to the "alarming wave of prison revolts."

The Pennsylvania Republican, in a prepared speech, advocated a thorough study of the entire penal machinery to include convictions, sentences, treatment of inmates, paroles and rehabilitation.

On the political side, there was plain notice by Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina that he and other Southern Democrats are not ready to bury the States Rights movement and return to the national party.

He told a news conference Wednesday:

"Our people, from the Potomac to the Gulf (of Mexico) have declared their independence."

Byrnes, secretary of state under President Truman, asserted a bit of his own independence by saying that President Eisenhower's popularity in the South is greater than ever.

He said he would not go as a delegate to the next Democratic National Convention if the party continues to insist upon an advance pledge of support.

Schmalz, Flour, Peas And Milk In Parcels Given East Germans

BERLIN (AP)—The East Germans call them "Ami-pakete"—American packages. But there's nothing in or on them to show their American origin.

More than a million and a half hunger sufferers under communist rule in the first 10 days of the U. S.-financed, German-operated food relief program in West Berlin.

But what the hungry hordes from the East are getting in the West Berlin giveaway is:

- two pounds of "schmalz," pork lard in unmarked cellophane;
- two pounds of white flour in an unmarked cloth sack;
- a pound of dried peas in an unmarked paper bag;
- four small cans of milk.

Army Doctor Freed Of Red Link Charge

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (AP)—Army Lt. Sheppard C. Thierman, 31, of Brooklyn, N. Y., today hailed his court martial acquittal of charges he had Communist ties as a vindication of "my honor as a loyal American."

Specifically, the nine-man court martial board Wednesday acquitted the bespectacled doctor of failing to cooperate with the Senate internal security subcommittee last fall.

Distraught Mother Slashes Throats Of 3 Little Children

ARAB, Ala. (AP)—A distraught mother answered her children's invitation to join them in play Wednesday by cutting their throats and slashing herself wildly.

From a hospital bed Mrs. Pearl Griffin told Coroner Aubrey Carr she felt her nerves "let go" about four months ago.

Carr said the 26-year-old mother killed Rickey Griffin, 6, Ronnie, 4, and Rosalind, 3, while they were alone in her parents' home in Oleander, seven miles north of here. Her father, W. F. Chaney, said she had been suffering with a nervous disorder.

Wanted Mental Care
Carr said the mother told him she had repeatedly asked her family to send her to a mental institution, and had told her husband she was going to kill herself.

The body of Eugene Burdo, 27, of Ellensburg, was recovered by volunteer firemen.

What's Next In Indo-China's Bitter War?

With the Korean war brought to a halt, the free world turns its eyes to French Indo-China, where the "hot war" against communism still smolders. The French feel that as a result of the Korean truce, Mao Tse-tung could deploy troops, formerly used in Korea, to the Indo-China battlefield. Greatest French fear is that the end of the fighting in Korea will bring a Red air force against them, eliminating what has been their greatest tactical advantage. France, with 12 divisions in Indo-China, has to date suffered 30,000 killed or missing and 60,000 wounded. Layout illustrates important phases of the seven-year battle between France and Ho Chi Minh's rebels.

Michigan Debt Still Climbing

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY
WASHINGTON (CQ) — The post-war economic expansion of the 48 state governments continued in fiscal 1952, as revenue, expenditures and debt outstanding showed marked gains over fiscal 1951 totals.

Figures compiled from federal reports by Congressional Quarterly show total revenue, which includes all general revenue plus insurance trust and liquor store revenues, amounted to $16,814,971.000 in fiscal 1952. Total income from all sources for Michigan was $902,426,000. This represented a 7.1 per cent increase in fiscal 1951 revenues.

The Michigan state government spent $884,618,000 in fiscal 1952—a 12.3 per cent gain compared to fiscal 1951 expenditures. Total spending for the 48 states, including insurance trust and liquor store outlays, reached $15,833,952,000. Michigan's insurance trust revenues amounted to $104,041,000, while state spending for insurance benefits programs was $73,689,000.

At the end of fiscal 1952 Michigan had a debt total of $351,038,000. During the fiscal year, the state government borrowed $80,656,000, and redeemed debts totaling $15,116,000. Based on its 1951 population, Michigan's debt per person averaged $53.63.

Sons Carry On

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Harry S. Elliott, who is retiring as editor of the Marion Star after 50 years in newspaper work and service in public office, will see his name carried on in the profession. Three of his sons are newspaper men—Robert on the Miami Herald, William on the Baton Rouge State Times and Advocate, and John on the Louisville Times. The fourth, Charles, a former newspaper man, is in public relations at Hartford, Conn.

Boys' Paintings Sold

BOSTON (AP)—Most unusual of this year's exhibition at the big Boston Museum of Fine Arts was a set of 200 paintings and drawings done in the past three years by members of boys' clubs in different sections of the city.

Many of the paintings were sold and the museum, itself, bought several. Fifty of the boys' works of art were selected for a traveling show to tour the United States.

Bronze Heads May Be Key To Lost Culture

WASHINGTON—Eleven bronze heads of high artistic merit, accidentally uncovered 15 years ago in Nigeria's sacred city of Ife (pronounced EE-fay) may be the key to a lost African culture that flourished eight centuries ago.

Artists and anthropologists the world over have sought vainly to identify the sculptors of the heads since 1938, when workmen digging house foundations turned up the delicate bronzes. Recent probing of Ife streets by a Nigerian government archeological expedition turned up a clue, says the National Geographic Society.

Mosaic Highways
The scientists found pavements made from broken pieces of pottery set on edge in herringbone patterns. Such intricate work indicated the existence of an early culture comparing favorably to those of Egypt and Europe.

Ife's present inhabitants, who display little artistic talent, then recalled a legend of a woman ruler who centuries ago forced their ancestors to pave their city in this fashion. By adding legend to evidence of bronze heads and mosaic paving, it was deduced that ancient Ifians themselves, rather than some invading civilization of the forgotten past, had fathered a culture that was later allowed to languish.

The legend shed one further bit of light. It says that the ancient queen made the Ifians work so hard they resolved that only men should rule them in future. The present ruler is a man, the Oni of Ife, who attended Queen Elizabeth II's coronation ceremonies.

Existence of an ancient culture at Ife was first suspected in 1911, when a German expedition discovered several terra cotta heads.

The natural and sensitive modeling of the features was unique in tropical Africa, and suggested the art works of Greece and the Renaissance. Next came the discovery of the bronze heads.

Until the mosaic paving was found, scientists had many theories as to the origin of the Ife culture. Some believed Ife was connected with the Etruscans and with the legendary lost civilization of Atlantis described by Plato. Others speculated that a wandering sculptor of the Italian Renaissance must have found his way to Ife.

Heart Of Yorubaland
Ife is the spiritual headquarters of the Yoruba tribe, which believes that man was created in the town.

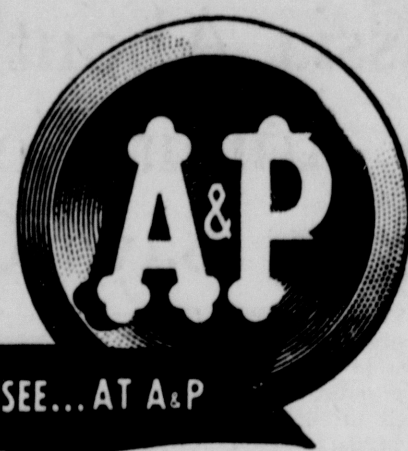

The Yoruba population, now numbering about 5,000,000, consists of many clans, identifiable by tribal marks scarified on their faces. Women are given to highly ornamental decoration of their bodies and elaborate hairdressing. When Europeans first penetrated into southern Nigeria, the Yorubas were the region's most advanced social and political tribe, but civil wars and slave raiding gradually diminished their kingdom.

The thin - braided wire core from the inside of an old speedometer cable, with one of the solid ends cut off, makes an excellent tool for cleaning a radiator overflow pipe. Its flexibility permits it to be slipped easily into the pipe, and the sharp end cuts any scale or sludge.

Mackinac Island Talk Raps GOP

MACKINAC ISLAND (P)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) charged Sunday that the Republicans-controlled 83rd Congress has "struck out twice and bunted once."

Monroney attacked the administration on "Sounding Board," Mutual Broadcasting System's public participation program at Grand Hotel.

He appeared with radio commentator Austin Grant.

Monroney said "give-away programs featured the first 'strike-out'."

He charged the second strike-out was postponement until the next session of Congress of revision of social security, immigration, Taft-Hartley and farm programs.

"After the U. S. Supreme Court had three times held that the billions of tidal lands oil belonged to the people of the 48 states, the Republican Congress gave this wealth away to a few coastal states," Monroney said.

Personal Income Rises One Billion

WASHINGTON (P)—The Department of Commerce reported today personal income rose one billion dollars in June to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 286 billion dollars.

This made the annual rate of income to individuals 283 billion dollars in the first half of 1953, or seven per cent higher than in the first half of last year.

Farm income, however, declined again in June to the April rate of $17,200,000,000, seasonally adjusted. This was three and one half billions, or nearly 17 per cent, less than the annual rate of farm income in June, 1952.

For the first six months of 1953, the department reported, farm income averaged an annual rate of $17,800,000,000, some $2,200,000,000, or 11 per cent, less than in the first six months of 1952.

The monthly report includes estimated wage and salary receipts, net incomes of proprietorships and partnerships, including farms, plus income to individuals in the form of dividends, interest and net rents.

Death Valley Heat Fatal To Brothers When Auto Stalls

LOVE PINE, Calif. (P)—The bodies of two brothers were found Tuesday in Death Valley near Bad Water, lowest point in the nation and one of the hottest.

Sheriff Charles Cline said Charles Henry Ludlow III, 29, and Randall Casey Ludlow, 7, died of the heat or thirst after their car stalled. The two had left their San Diego home Saturday to drive to Death Valley National Monument.

Cline said the Ludlow car apparently stopped with a vapor lock. Temperature in the area was 110 Tuesday.

Newspaper Merger Lasts Only 4 Days

IRONTON, Ohio (P)—This community of 16,000 persons still has three independent newspapers today following the end of one of the shortest mergers in journalistic history.

The 2-month-old Ironton Courier signed an agreement July 31 to publish jointly with the 54-year-old Ironton News. Both are morning papers. The first edition of the Iron News - Courier appeared Sunday.

Tuesday Earl Sampson, general manager of the Courier, said: "The News has withdrawn from the merger. We have abided by the agreement."

Both papers plan to publish independently today.

The third paper, the Ironton Tribune, is an afternoon publication.

Shivers And Williams Widest Apart Poles In Democratic Split

By JACK BELL
SEATTLE Wash. (AP)—The Democratic party remains so sharply divided that poles-apart members like Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan have serious doubts they will be able to get together by 1956.

This portents another knockdown fight among the Democrats over their presidential nominee four years from now. It foreshadows another possible walkout in the South which could give the Republicans a second four-year claim on the White House.

In Washington it is fashionable these days to say that the Democrats are learning in adversity the value of unity they never knew in success.

Texas Not Reconciled
That is the theme of the leadership of both houses of Congress, with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas keeping his Senate Democrats marching in party file and Minority Leader Sam Rayburn calling an accepted turn for Democratic House members.

But back where the people dwell in the states, there is no such unanimity among the Democrats, if the evidence displayed at this 45th annual Governors Conference is to be accepted as indicative of grass roots sentiment.

Shivers, who supported President Eisenhower in last year's election, remains unreconciled. He obviously is waiting warily for developments without committing himself, without much hope that the Democrats will nominate a middle of the road candidate he can accept.

Asked if he would be willing to back former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee in the 1956 race, Shivers replied:

Casualties Reach 141,705 In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Announced U. S. battle casualties reached 141,705 today in the fighting that ceased in Korea nine days ago.

The new total was 1,159 more than was reported last week.

Today's figures were based on the number of notifications sent to families through last Friday.

Although the cut-off date of the weekly summary came four days after the cease fire went into effect, the Pentagon noted that the new total did not necessarily include all of those killed, wounded or believed to be missing before the armistice.

A spokesman said there would be at least one more casualty summary and that it was possible belated reports from the now silent battle front would prompt the issuance of additional summaries.

Today's report was completed before beginning of the prisoner exchange started in Korea Tuesday. Next week's summary should reflect the beginning of the exchange process by confirming the previously reported numbers of captured and throwing additional light upon the 8,705 men still carried as currently missing.

"I never bet on a horse the second time."

Sharp Words Swapped
A reporter observed that the Texas governor hadn't bet on this particular horse the first time, but he said with a smile it was too far away to speculate on what he would do.

Shivers apparently spoke for the Southern Democrats who supported Eisenhower when he said that on the whole he was well pleased with the accomplishments of the Republican administration in its first six months in office.

Shivers referred scornfully to Williams as a member of the "ultra-liberal" faction he said had tried to rule the Democratic party and would ruin it if it retained control.

There was an exchange of rather sharp words between the two Democratic governors—conducted at long range—over the bill to cement the state's title to submerged lands off their traditional borders.

Williams called this a "give-away" to the oil companies, a remark that caused Shivers to observe that this was "the silly, stupid kind of a statement made by those who don't know the facts and care less about them."

Williams said with heavy sarcasm that this couldn't have been said by a nicer guy in a nicer way.

When making cakes and cookies it is necessary to sift the flour once before measuring, for flour tends to pack and settle during handling and shipping. If you do not sift flour before measuring, you will get more than is needed in your baked product.

Never use hot water when you are trying to remove a gravy stain; it sets the stain. Sponge with cold or lukewarm water. If a grease spot remains and the material is washable, launder in warm soapy water.

Escanaba B&PW Women Hear Finnish Doctor

Few polio cases occur in Finland and that country has never had a polio epidemic. Dr. Ester Virkkunen of Joensuu, Finland, who is observing work of the health department here, told members of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's club Wednesday night.

Dr. Virkkunen was honored guest at a B. & P. W. luncheon meeting at the Escanaba Golf Club. The speaker was introduced by Miss Hilma Asikainen, nurse from the Delta-Menominee Health department.

The visiting doctor spoke of conditions in Finland and described work of the public health nurses there. Many nurses travel on bicycles, she said, and these work in close cooperation with health doctors and midwives.

25 Attend

Tuberculosis is a big problem in the Scandinavian countries, she told B. & P. W. members, but a vaccine (BCG) is cutting the rate. All infants receive this vaccine, and the injection is repeated when children start school. It is given again when they enter military service, Dr. Virkkunen explained. All of the Scandinavian countries are using this vaccine, she noted, stating that Finland began using it in 1940.

Special nursing homes are provided for children whose mothers have tuberculosis, Dr. Virkkunen stated. Children are vaccinated with BCG when two months old, though some districts vaccinate at birth, she explained. Children are kept in these homes until eight months old, and have built an immunity, she said.

The meeting last night was attended by about 25.

A gift was presented Dr. Vir-kunen, founder of a B. & P. W. club in Finland.

Today Dr. Virkkunen is visiting the Delta Red Cross Chapter, Camp Harstad, volunteer agencies and other groups engaged in health and welfare work.

She was a guest of the Menominee B. & P. W. at a noon meeting in the Menominee Hotel Wednesday.

Returns Soon

Dr. Virkkunen will leave Friday for Nielsville, Wis., for a week-end visit with Dr. Milton Rosecrans and his wife, Dr. Sarah Rosecrans. The two women doctors met at an international board meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Finland a few years ago.

Monday, the Finnish doctor will go to Chicago for a week's tour of offices of the federal Children's Bureau. Then she will go to Washington, D. C., to visit health offices there.

Dr. Virkkunen, whose husband is a staff surgeon in Joensuu, will leave Aug. 27 to return to Finland. She is an assistant provincial public health officer in southeast Finland and for the past year has studied maternal and child health at Harvard University.

Lauds English Road Courtesy

Leonard Shay, Germfask lumberman and timber exporter, told Manistique Lions Tuesday night that one of the most favorable impressions received on his recent European business trip was made by traffic courtesy in England.

Shay, visiting several European countries this summer in connection with his export business, took his automobile with him and had personal experience with highway courtesy and conditions in Great Britain.

Shay said that a member of an English automobile association met him at the boat when he landed and conveyed him to a filling station first, and then took him to an office where he was supplied with road maps of England.

As he toured the country, the speaker said, he found that at about 20 mile intervals the highways were equipped with roadside telephone booths from which calls could be made for auto service.

Truck Drivers Helpful

Shay was particularly impressed by the courteous treatment he received from individual English motorists and truck drivers.

Truck operators, he said, made a determined effort to aid passenger traffic, serving as unofficial policemen in expediting it on congested roads, around curves and over hills. London and another large English city, Shay said, Englishmen from whom he sought traffic guidance personally conveyed him many miles through heavy traffic to a point from which he could follow directions more easily.

"I tried to reimburse them for their service and time," Shay said, "but they just waved me on and said they were happy to help."

She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua nylon net and satin over net and taffeta fashioned with a full bouffant set skirt and fitted satin bodice with satin leaf trim. The reception, given by the bride's parents, was held at Crow Wing Crest Lodge following the ceremony. The couple left later on a two weeks wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park. For her going away outfit the bride chose a blue-gray summer suit with white accessories. They will make their home at Aitkin, Minn., where both bride and groom have teaching positions.

AIRLIFT FOR MIDGET SUBS — This is an artist's conception of how the U. S. Navy's new, deadly weapon, a four-man midget submarine, can be carried by a helicopter from the deck of an aircraft carrier to enemy waters. In an article in Collier's magazine, Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood states that the tiny subs "may revolutionize naval strategy and tactics as we practice them today." The sub will weigh 25 tons and will measure 40 feet from stem to stern. Each undersea craft will be manned by frogmen and the principal armament will be mines—some of them atomic. These time-fused mines will be attached to the hulls of enemy vessels by the frogmen.

Ice Cream Too Cold For Eskimo Boy

Recovering from an attack of meningitis, he has become fond of nurses—and bread. For Markussie buttered bread has become what candy is for the other children.

City Sprays To Control Flies

Spraying of Gladstone's alleys with an insecticide is now underway.

Control of house flies and other insects is the aim of the project. The work is being done under an arrangement made with the City of Escanaba for use of their equipment immediately upon the completion of their spraying program.

The work is being done by a crew under the direction of the Escanaba City Forester.

This will be Gladstone's first city-wide fly-control project. In some areas of the city a partial spraying program was carried out two years ago.

Work here can be completed in two or three days, City Manager H. J. Henrikson states.

Gladstone Juniors Tip 'Stique, 5-3

Gladstone nipped Manistique, 5-3, in a nip and tuck junior league ball game on the local diamond over the weekend.

Although Maynard held the locals to 4 hits, Gladstone bunched three of them in the first frame which coupled with 4 walks and 4 errors combined for 4 runs and enough to win the game.

Butler was in trouble in the third when Manistique loaded the sacks with only one out and Olson got a double.

Farley caught for 'Stique with Escanaba receiving Butler's tosses.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

The Upper Peninsula prep pitcher who was named the outstanding player in the state American Legion baseball tournament, Pat Cvenegros of Ironwood, fired a no-hitter in the U. P. All Star team's first appearance downstate Tuesday night. He blanked a Lansing Legion club 3-0 in a seven-inning game. Cvenegros, who will be a senior in high school this year, also belted a two-run homer for the U. P. Stars and fanned 11 batsmen. His homer measured off at over 355 feet.

A new ruling will be in effect when Upper Peninsula softball teams begin tournament play soon. The new regulation, sanctioned by the state softball commission, will give a team an automatic victory if it has a 10 or more run lead at the end of four complete innings of play. The idea is to speed up tournament play.

Six former Escanabans helped keep Marquette Northern on the athletic map last school year. Axel Anderson won letters in football, basketball and track. Bob St. Martin won letters in football and basketball. Jim Hirm earned varsity awards in football and track. Dan Hirm continued the track team and John Beaumier earned a letter in football.

Trojan Football Players Will Report Next Monday

Candidates for the 1953 St. Joe Trojan football squad will report to Coach Tom St. Germain at 10 a. m. Monday for issue of uniforms and equipment.

Twice daily drills will open next week, with the griders practicing at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. until the season opener on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 5, against the Gladstone Braves.

Assisting St. Germain at the helm of the St. Joe team this year will be Dominic Biagioli, new St. Joseph faculty member.

Marquette Graduate

Biagioli joins the St. Joe staff after teaching last year at Stephenson High School. He will teach math and science at St. Joe. After graduating from St. Bede Academy in Peru, Ill., Biagioli earned his BA degree and master's degree at Marquette University, Milwaukee, with a math major. He is married and has three children.

St. Joe will play an eight-game schedule this season with six of the contests scheduled at home. Besides Gladstone, the home Trojan games will be played against

The Manistique Cardinals are rapidly approaching the time when they are mathematically certain of no worse than a share of the 1953 Bay de Noc League championship.

Manager Fred Lesica's Cards will go for their 11th win of the season Sunday at Cooks. If they win, that game and the following one, they can do no worse than tie for Trenary for the title, regardless of what happens in the other games slated. Including this Sunday's games, there are four more slated contests in the regular season.

Trenary will be battling to stay in contention in a host game to Zernial and Ray Murray homered for the A's in the second and Ed McGhee tied the count in the eighth with a two-run blow.

The Red Sox collected nine hits against the Browns and seven of them went for two bases each. One was a single and the other was Dick Gernert's 18th home run.

Porterfield scattered six hits and contributed two doubles to the 17-hit Washington assault as the Senators broke their string of 23 scoreless innings.

Miller Beats Cards
Willard Schmidt, in his return to the big time with St. Louis, gave the Phils only five hits in eight innings but he walked six. Bob Miller tamed the Cards after Stan Musial homered with Red Schoendienst on base in the first inning.

Ted Kluszewski drove in three runs with two homers and Gus Bell also homered for Cincinnati but the long ball attack wasn't enough against the Pirates.

The Giants spotted Chicago eight runs in the first game and when they tried to catch up in the eighth inning eddy Dutch Leonard stopped them after five runs were across. In the nightcap, singles by Warren Hacker, Frank Baumholtz and Tommy Brown produced the winning run in the 10th.

Wednesday night, Louisville edged third-place Indianapolis, 2-1, to remain two games behind Toledo, which blanked Kansas City, 4-0. The Indianapolis set-back left the Indians four games behind the pace-setting Sox.

Columbus blanked St. Paul 4-0 and last-place Charleston split a twin bill with Minneapolis. The Millers took the opener 4-2 but the Senators won the 6-inning nightcap 6-1.

39th U.P. Golf Meet Starts At Marquette, Field Of 130 Entered

By Press Staff Writer

MARQUETTE — The 39th annual U. P. Golf Association tournament got underway here today with 130 golfers, representing 18 clubs of Upper Michigan, Northern Wisconsin and Canadian Soo, firing 18-hole qualifying rounds.

Among the favorites in the field are the defending champion, Harry Hogan, and his Escanaba teammate, Elmer Swanson, runner-up last year, and two former champions, Dr. Robert Berry of Marquette and Frank Hruska, Menominee.

Large, Fast Field

In one of the fastest and largest fields in postwar years, it is the consensus, however, that any one of a number of dark-horses could come through.

Led by Hogan and Swanson, who fired a 33-36-69 practice round here recently, Escanaba will defend the team championship it has won 14 times since the tourneys began in 1912.

Features of the current tournament are the appearance of veteran Phil Colasanti, American Soo, in the senior division for the first time and the entry of five of the seven winners in the recent U. P. Junior golf meet in Escanaba.

Escanaba Juniors Enter

Colasanti, who has played in more than 25 consecutive U. P. G. A. meets, suffered a broken ankle recently and said this morning he would "settle" for the senior event.

Five junior contenders, all of whom are capable of wrecking veterans' hopes in the championship flight are Bill LeMire Jr., Jack Smith and David Him, of Escanaba, Don Murwin, Menominee, and Joe Pesavento, Iron Mountain.

The 32 low qualifiers were to play first round matches in the little flight this afternoon, with all other flights slated to start play tomorrow morning.

Lions Fail To Impress Parker

By JOE FALLS

YPSILANTI — Buddy Parker, coach of the champion Detroit Lions, is disappointed at the progress made by his team as they prepare for the annual mid-summer football spectacle—the all-star game in Chicago Aug. 14.

"No, I'm not satisfied with the way the boys have looked," Parker said today. "Bobby Layne quarterback is not in shape and his passing has been only fair."

There'll be about 100,000 fans sitting in on the all-star game in Soldier Field and millions more watching via television.

It's only an exhibition game. But Parker has been driving his team for it as though the National Football League championship was the prize.

The best guess around the training camp is that Parker feels the prestige of pro football—and of the Lions—is at stake. It took Detroit 17 years to win its second NFL title (the first was in 1935) and Parker would like to stay on top.

Big Day Today For Braves Who Battle Dodgers, Time

By BEN PHILEGAR

AP Sports Writer
With one eye on the standings and the other on the calendar, this looks like the day of decision for the Milwaukee Braves.

Charlie Grimm's club plays league-leading Brooklyn twice today. Nothing less than a pair of victories will convince anybody except the rabid Milwaukee fans that the Braves still have a pennant chance.

The Braves trail the Dodgers by 7 1/2 games. Twin triumphs would leave them 5 1/2 behind; a double defeat would drop them 9 1/2 back, with only seven weeks left of the 1953 campaign.

First Loss In Milwaukee
So far Brooklyn has won 11 out of 16, six out of seven on the Braves' own field.

The Dodgers suffered their first loss in Milwaukee Wednesday, 5-3, when the Braves came from behind in the eighth inning. They scored two runs when Walker Cooper delivered a pinch hit single with the bases loaded and one more when Erv Palica walked Eddie Mathews with the bases loaded again.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS
16 — Thursday, August 6, 1953

Tri County baseball league teams make their final bids for playoff berths Sunday as the regular season schedule closes.

Bark River will be trying for an unprecedented unbeaten season in Tri County competition. The Barks will face a hot Powers quint at Bark River at 2:30.

Powers will send young Jack Chrisko to the hill against the Bark River ace, Ernie LaChapelle. Chrisko tossed a one-hit, 2-0 victory over Perronville in one of the best Tri County games of the season last Sunday.

Bark River has compiled an impressive Tri County record in past season, but in most years played second fiddle to the Escanaba Bears. With the Bears out of competition this season, Bark River produced its strongest entry in history to sweep through the first 13 games on the schedule without a loss.

While Bark River is looking for a perfect record, a key game will be played at Hermansville Sunday.

Clairmont Wins National Crown

A home run by Jim Gravelle in the sixth inning gave Clairmonts an 8-7 victory over Anderson Brothers and clinched the National League softball championship for the winners.

Both teams poked out seven hits, but the champs had the long ball when it counted. Duane Benard led Clairmonts at bat with three for four. Ray Menard chucked the win against M. Thorsen.

In American League action Hyde tripped White Birch 5-1, collecting 10 hits off Harry Lancour before Leo Lancour came in to stop the batting attack in the sixth. Tom Brayak fired a three-hitter and fanned nine to notch the win for Hyde.

Bitner rapped a run-scoring triple in the fifth and scored on a long fly by Tom Brayak. Four straight singles and a walk produced another run in the sixth.

Kessler's capped a 19-8 decision over Neisner's in another National League game.

Aragon Wins On Technical Kayo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cocky Art Aragon was hollering today for a shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight title — thanks to a smashed lip belonging to a game puncher named Henry Davis.

Aragon, the Los Angeles golden boy, was behind on points Wednesday night in a 10-round struggle when he cut Davis' mouth in the ninth with a hard right. The fight was stopped in the 10th.

At the end of the ninth, Davis, a 4-1 underdog, was leading on both judges' cards, 50-49, but trailing on referee Frank Brown's 47-51, at 138 1/2 he gave Aragon 6 rounds.

Blood spurted from Davis' mouth early in the 10th, and Brown sent for the state commission physician, Dr. Robert Ladden. Ladden looked at the lip and advised Brown to stop the fight.

"Another solid punch and he might have lost the lip," Ladden said.

The 2,000 fans in the huge Cow Palace let out a terrific hoot at the decision which came at 1:39. Probably the nationwide television audience felt the same way. The cut was inside the mouth.

PAPPY SPEAKS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf says Ohio State will give his California football team more trouble this season than any Big Ten club the Bears have faced since he took over six years ago. California and Ohio State clash at Berkeley, Oct. 2.

Tigers Drop Second In Row To Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, who looked like champions in Boston, have looked like chumps against the champs.

They lost their second game in a row to the world champion New York Yankees Wednesday, but they lost no ground in their battle for sixth place or their fight to keep out of the cellar where they lived so long.

The Yankees, blasting the fences while the Tigers were dribbling singles, won 5-4.

The eighth-place St. Louis Browns, however, lost 5-0 decision to Boston and the sixth place Philadelphia Athletics dropped a 14-inning night game, 9-7, to the Chicago White Sox.

In Same Place

Thus, Detroit neither gained nor lost in relation to its deeply mired neighbors in the American League standings. They are 4 1/2 games at the last place Browns and five games behind the A's.

Yogi Berra doubled Mickey Mantle home with the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning against Detroit and sent young Billy Hoelt down to his ninth defeat.

Before that the Yankees got on single runs on Gil McDougald's triple and Irv Noren's infield out, Rookie Gus Triandos' first major league home run, Billy Martin's 11th of the season, and McDougald's double coupled with Mantle's single.

Knock Out McDonald

After Hoelt gave the Yanks a 1-0 lead in the first on the McDougald-Noren combine, the Tigers came back with five straight singles in the third to knock out Jim McDonald and assume a 3-1 lead.

Don Lund, Harvey Kuenn, Johnny Pesky, Ray Boone and Walt Dropo were those who brought on Johnny Sain in the third.

Triandos, called up from Birmingham to play first base, hit a homer in the fourth with none on. Then Martin did the same thing to tie the score.

Yesterday's Stars
By The Associated Press
Pitching—Bob Porterfield, Washington Senators, pitched his seventh shutout, of the season in beating Cleveland 11-0.

Batting — Sam Mele, Chicago White Sox, homered with one on in the 14th inning to give the Sox a 9-7 victory over Philadelphia.

Railroads Make Diesel Switch

WASHINGTON—The steam locomotive's whistle, siren call to wanderlust and adventure, is vanishing from the American scene.

Thirty-one of the nation's 107 Class 1 railway systems are today completely dieselized. An additional 49 lines use diesel-electric locomotives for better than 50 per cent of operations. More than 70 per cent of all passenger service and 65 per cent of all freight is handled by diesel engines, which have strident horns instead of steam whistles.

The 8,000-mile Southern Railway System is the country's latest—and largest—rail line to switch to 100 per cent diesel service, notes the National Geographic Society. When a Southern freight recently pulled into Chattanooga, Tennessee and doused its firebox, it marked the end of the steam power era for the Southern, one of whose lines pioneered steam service 123 years ago.

Historic Engine
On December 25, 1830, a Southern engine, the historic "Best Friend of Charleston," made its initial run. It was the first steam locomotive put on regular, scheduled railway service on the American continent. For the next 65 years steam was unchallenged as power king on U. S. rails.

In 1895, electric locomotives made their first appearance on main line tracks. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad substituted electric current for steam through a 7,300-foot tunnel at Baltimore, Maryland; and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad introduced electric engines in New England between Nantasket Beach and Pemberton, Massachusetts.

But the immense capital expenditures required for substitutions, transmission lines, and overhead wires hindered railroad electrification. In 1921 the railroads had 65,000 locomotives, and all but 364 were steam power.

In 1924 a diesel engine equipped with electrical transmission was tested on ten railroads, and steam supremacy approached its end.

First Used In Yards
On October 25, 1925, the first diesel locomotive was installed in regular switching service at the Central Railroad of New Jersey's freight yard in New York City. This 600-ton engine reportedly is still in operation.

In 1934 the first diesel-electric engines were used in passenger service on the Burlington and Union Pacific lines. The Santa Fe and Southern railways inaugurated diesel freight service in 1941.

First complete train to use diesel power was the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy streamliner Pioneer Zephyr on its run between Lincoln, Nebraska, and Kansas City, Missouri, on November 11, 1934.

The diesel accelerates a train faster than steam from a dead stop up to about 40 miles per hour, but steam locomotion is faster above this speed. Thus, most American railroad speed records are still held by steam engines.

Fastest U. S. train ever recorded was made by the Pennsylvania Special, now the Broadway Limited, of the Pennsylvania Railroad on June 12, 1905. It ran three miles near Ada, Ohio, in 85 seconds, a rate of 127.06 miles per hour.

But the immense capital expenditures required for substitutions, transmission lines, and overhead wires hindered railroad electrification. In 1921 the railroads had 65,000 locomotives, and all but 364 were steam power.

In 1924 a diesel engine equipped with electrical transmission was tested on ten railroads, and steam supremacy approached its end.

Lampi - Gamble

The Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church of Eben was the setting Saturday, July 31, for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Mildred Elaine Lampi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Lampi, Eben, to Harold Glenn Gamble, son of Joseph Harold Gamble, Munising.

Twin bouquets of delphinium and baby's breath, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Keeton of Munising, and twin candlebras of seven candles each decorated the altar for the candlelight ceremony performed by the Reverend Frank Pelkonen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon tulle and satin. The lace jacket was fashioned with a fitted bodice buttoning down the front with long fitted sleeves pointed at the wrist, and a Queen Anne collar. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a lace and seed pearl diadem.

The bride carried a white Bible to which was attached a single white orchid. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Price Of Pork Finally Drops
(By The Associated Press)
You'll be able to eat "high on the hog" this week—pork prices have finally come down from their lofty peaks of recent weeks.

Pork hasn't declined everywhere, but generally speaking, weekend shoppers will find price tags considerably lower than a week ago.

A leading chain cites these reductions of from 10 to 20 cents a pound in some large cities. You may find lamb prices somewhat lower, too, depending on where you live. Lower wholesale costs may presage further declines next week.

By and large beef prices will be about the same. Frying and roasting chickens will be much the same as a week ago, but here and there eggs will be a couple of cents cheaper per dozen. Butter prices have not taken a summer upturn because production has been high.

The best buys are in vegetables, onions, cabbage, celery and eggplant. Food men said moderately good buys included cucumbers, beans, carrots, peppers and spinach. Vegetables going higher this week included cauliflower, corn, lettuce, peas and tomatoes.

Fruit prices were lower on the produce markets, but the experts said there were no bargains.

law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Evelyn Gamble, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of white organdy eyelet over pastel green satin with green sashes tied in large bows in the back. White, yellow, and violet daisies formed their nosegays, and the daisy theme was repeated in their head dresses, which were bands of daisies.

The groom's best man was his brother-in-law, Robert Park, Detroit. The other male attendant was Reinold Lampi, Marquette, brother of the bride. Jackie Parker, Menominee, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Ushers were Alvin Gamble, brother of the groom, William Chevrete, brother-in-law of the groom, and William Smythe.

At the beginning of the ceremony Mrs. Russell Hendrickson sang "Oh, Perfect Love", and while the couple were at the altar, "The Wedding Prayer". Mrs. Gordon Sproule was organist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lampi chose a pink suit and blue hat. Her corsage was white gladioli and French blue delphinium.

A reception was held in the Veteran's Memorial Gym at Eben. The buffet table covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bride and groom. After the wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom, guests were served by Miss Phyllis Parker, Menominee, niece of the bride. Miss Connie Gamble, sister of the groom, was in charge of the guest book. Gordon Sproule was master of ceremonies for the reception program, which included a vocal solo, "Oh, Promise Me" by Mrs. Russell Hendrickson; violin solos by the Rev. O. E. Bakkin of the Marquette Gospel Tabernacle, and two selections by the WDMJ "Wings of Song" vocal trio, composed of Mrs. Gordon Sproule, Mrs. Russell Hendrickson and Mrs. Reinold Lampi.

Price Of Pork Finally Drops
(By The Associated Press)
You'll be able to eat "high on the hog" this week—pork prices have finally come down from their lofty peaks of recent weeks.

Pork hasn't declined everywhere, but generally speaking, weekend shoppers will find price tags considerably lower than a week ago.

A leading chain cites these reductions of from 10 to 20 cents a pound in some large cities. You may find lamb prices somewhat lower, too, depending on where you live. Lower wholesale costs may presage further declines next week.

By and large beef prices will be about the same. Frying and roasting chickens will be much the same as a week ago, but here and there eggs will be a couple of cents cheaper per dozen. Butter prices have not taken a summer upturn because production has been high.

The best buys are in vegetables, onions, cabbage, celery and eggplant. Food men said moderately good buys included cucumbers, beans, carrots, peppers and spinach. Vegetables going higher this week included cauliflower, corn, lettuce, peas and tomatoes.

Fruit prices were lower on the produce markets, but the experts said there were no bargains.
